

Addiction Psychiatry Fellowship

Dell Medical School, Austin Texas

Austin, Texas, United States

Description:

New Addiction Psychiatry Fellowship; Dell Medical School, Austin Texas

Our newly accredited fellowship has 2 positions open with a start date July 1, 2021. Dell Medical School is uniquely positioned to provide evidence-based addiction training in a broad array of academic clinical settings, principally focused on serving the underserved, combined with teaching and mentorship with academic faculty and a vibrant community of experts throughout UT Austin. In addition to becoming highly skilled clinicians, addiction fellowship graduates will become leaders in education, research, and policy and will transform the delivery of treatment and system of care.

Our Training facilities Include:

Integral Care, the local mental health authority for Austin-Travis County, substance use disorder treatment clinics and intensive outpatient program. Core rotations also include outpatient clinics and supportive outpatient programs at the VA Austin Outpatient Clinic, addiction psychiatry consultation at Dell Medical School: UT Health Austin, and inpatient consult-liaison psychiatry at Dell-Seton Medical Center. In addition, there are numerous opportunities to pursue addiction research and scholarly interests throughout UT, including work with the Department of Psychiatry, Waggoner Center for Alcohol and Addiction Research, Department of Neuroscience, School of Social Work, and College of Pharmacy. For more information Click Here .

Program director: John Nguyen, M.D., john.nguyen@austin.utexas.edu

All applicants should submit a cover letter and current CV to the contact information below:

- Name: Renee Collins
- Email: dellmedpsych@austin.utexas.edu
- Phone: 512-495-5617
- Address: 1601 Trinity Street, Building B, Austin, TX 78712